

Chiron describes Western Civilization as "...a living force - a collective consciousness that has burned bright for thousands of years." He says the Greek gods are part of this, and move around as different nations become the central power of Western Civilization – Greece, Rome, Germany, France, England, and the United States.

What do you think of this idea?

Thinking about the term western civilization...

What is it referring to?

Where does it exist?

Where and when did it begin?

Chiron describes Western Civilization as "...a living force - a collective consciousness that has burned bright for thousands of years." He says the Greek gods are part of this, and move around as different nations become the central power of Western Civilization – Greece, Rome, Germany, France, England, and the United States.

What do you think of this idea?

Thinking about the term western civilization...

What is it referring to?

Where does it exist?

Where and when did it begin?